A "Vesper" held yesterday, Mrs. H. C. Samuels, of Bay St. Louis, and a series of radio programs by Mrs. Joseph Rousseau of Cleopatra-Harbor, were substituted for this week to send the drive further toward its goal. In an effort to touch the "Heart" more by the students closing date of February 28, which is when the drive officially closes.

When Mr. Ingram first took over his duties here, in 1956, the school was housed in a dilapidated wooden structure that was replaced under his guidance by the first permanent and eight additional classrooms and gymnasium was made part of the central school unit. In 1965 the Elementary Building, consisting of six classrooms, offices and toilet facilities, was built on the site across from the Central school. In the meantime a new building was constructed for colored school students at the James C. Jones School, which also has been enlarged until it is now a twelve-room building with room addition of a classroom-making building.

When Capt. Ingram first took over management of Bay High, his faculty consisted of eight teachers, including the superintendent, himself, who taught a total enrollment of 175 students enrolled in non-accredited classes. The school now employs 32 white teachers with an enrollment of 700 students. Its classes are not only fully accredited by the State Accrediting Agency, but the school also holds several memberships in the Southern Association.

100,000 hours

Owned By Power Co.

The U. S. Senate Committee on Energy and Natural Resources has recommended that the Federal Power Commission approve a new power generation and transmission system for the Mississippi River. The plan is designed to be implemented during the early 1960's, consisting of additional hydroelectric plants, three lines with interconnection at Gulfport and Biloxi, and increased load will necessitate changes in those areas.

In the previous statement the Company has two medium-high-voltage steel electric generating units. Plant lines to be located on the Leaf River near Meridian, Miss., and Plant Street at Meridian, Mississippi. The new plant will be interconnected with the other two plants and the transmission system as well. The company now has three 130,000 kw units in line with The Southern Company. It also has tie-in lines with two non-affiliated companies in the west and south for use in case of emergency.

At Taylorsville, Mississippi, a new 130,000 volt substation will be constructed, transmission which will link Company's newest high voltage substation, will provide additional electrical capacity for the town, Taylorsville and the area between Taylorsville and Laurel.

The Company's eleven million dollar construction budget will include building a 44,000 kw line from Laclede to Taylorsville, Mississippi. This will provide a second-source power supply into the Laclede area. Providing this additional supply will necessitate upgrading the 130,000 volt substation at Laclede.

A second 130,000 volt transmission line will be completed on the Company's switching

Our Girl Scout Troops

Two new members for our Girl Scout Troop were initiated at Wednesday night meeting. The initiates, and godmothers, Mrs. Wanda, Mrs. Ruthie, Mrs. Wanda, and Mrs. Barbara McDaniel, were assisted by Mrs. C. C. McDonald, President of Live Oak Council and Mrs. Joe Collier, Vice-Chairman of the Bay St. Louis Neighborhood.

At the opening of the program, Troops 82 and 85, our Brownies and one of Intermediate Girl Scouts, were presented with an American Flag and staff by Mrs. C. J. Paine of Bay St. Louis representing the American Legion Auxiliary. Blanche Kelly received the flags for the two troops.

After the flag ceremony and the regular activities of both troops, Mrs. McDonald and Mrs. Collier welcomed the girls and the mothers, on behalf of the neighborhood, and Live Oak Council. The new leaders had taken the basic training course during the fall and the community is very proud of these two troops, numbering eighteen girls each.

Highway 90 . . .

(Continued from page 1) and make it mandatory for the Highway department to keep up old Highway 90 — "and we'll be right behind you when you go to the Legislature and ask for that," he added.

"I'd rather see the act passed before we accept a new highway," Rogers explained. He added that "it's a mighty peculiar 'distance' highway which has any place for building spur roads from the highway into the shipyards of Pascagoula, the Air Base at Biloxi, or the Fleet of Gulfport."

"Personally," Rogers said, "I have my own idea as to just who engineered this thing, this spending of billions of dollars of tax money on a new highway before our coastal plant are dry from robbing the destination of the one we have now which is not over yet complete. I am not at all sure that when we discuss the bulk of our passing traffic off our present highway, so that its revenues are vastly cut down, the Legislature will consent to let the Highway Department continue its spending. If the state doesn't maintain the highway, the Coast will be at a point of stagnation the like of which we didn't see even after 1947 hurricanes — and I think I'm a pretty good expert on tourist travel and its trends."

Commissioner Smith explained that under the super highway program — the highway to be built by the Federal Government for Mutual Defense to link the biggest cities throughout the United States with express highways of the limited access type, Uncle Sam is putting up 90 percent of the cost while the states participating are asked to put up only 10 percent of the funds. "Mississippi just can't afford to let such an opportunity pass," Smith said. "Congress has anticipated that the highway built under the program shall be free access highways and there is no such free access area nearer the present highway site than the area we have outlined."
